THE FAITH CONUNDRUM

How the human search for meaning becomes an opportunity for control

A book that explores faith as one of humanity's most enduring technologies: a way of organising knowledge, values, relationships and collective life.

Drawing on anthropology, history and contemporary society, The Faith Conundrum follows the development of religious traditions through the ages and asks what happens when we look at religion not simply in terms of what people believe, but in terms of what faith enables societies to do.

DR JESSICA SYMONS

Anthropologist and founder of Visioning Lab

SCAN TO FIND OUT MORE

- Kindle edition on Amazon
- Further reading, watching and sources

visioninglab.com/press